To Whom It May Concern:

At the Board of Behavioral Sciences' May 31, 2007 meeting, Board members voted to support an emergency regulation proposal that would allow the Board to accept qualifying degrees obtained from schools approved by the Bureau of Private Postsecondary Education (BPPVE) until June 30, 2008.

The Office of Administrative Law (OAL) must approve the emergency regulation proposal before it can go into effect. The proposal is still pending at this time, but the Board expects final approval before June 30, 2007. Emergency regulations do not require legislative approval.

The Board's emergency regulation proposal, if approved, would only create a temporary solution. Please continue to monitor the Board's website for information on new developments.
